Justice McClanahan hadn't reviewed the job description before the Personnel Meeting. The first issue Justice McClanahan had was the Chief of Staff terminology and didn't think it was fitting for County Government. The position needed to be along the lines of Executive Assistant. Scope of Work Statement

Specialty Court Justice-Involved Peer Recovery Program

What is a Peer Recovery Specialist?

According to the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA), the role of a Peer Recovery Specialist has been defined as "offering and receiving help, based on shared understanding, respect, and mutual empowerment between people in similar situations." Peer support has been described as "a system of giving and receiving help" based on fundamental principles that include "shared responsibility and mutual agreement of what is helpful."

What does a Peer Recovery Specialist do?

Peer Recovery Specialists engage in various activities, including advocacy, resource linkage, sharing experience, community and relationship building, group facilitation, skill building, mentoring, and goal setting. Peer Recovery Specialists may also plan and develop groups, services, or activities, supervise other peer workers, provide training, gather information on resources, administer programs, educate the public and policymakers, and work to raise awareness for substance use or mental health disorders and recovery-based treatment options.

What is Recovery?

SAMHSA defines recovery as "a process of change through which individuals improve their health and wellness, live self-directed lives, and strive to reach their full potential."

Throughout the defined competencies of Peer Recovery Specialists, the term recovery refers to the above definition and does not describe recovery as an end state but rather as a process. Complete symptom remission is neither a prerequisite of recovery nor a necessary outcome of the process. Recovery can have many pathways, including professional clinical treatment, use of medications, support from families and schools, faith-based techniques, peer support, and other approaches. SAMHSA has identified four dimensions that support a life in recovery:

- Health Learning to overcome, manage, or more successfully live with the symptoms and making healthy choices that support one's physical and emotional well-being;
- Home A stable and safe place to live;
- Purpose Meaningful daily activities, such as a job, school, volunteer work, or creative endeavors; increased ability to lead a self-directed life; and meaningful engagement in society; and
- Community Relationships and social networks that provide support, friendship, love, and hope.

Peer Recovery Specialists help individuals in all of these domains.

What are Core Competencies?

Core competencies refer to the capacity to perform a role or function efficiently. Core competencies are often described as clusters of the knowledge, skills, and attitudes a person needs to perform a role or job successfully or as the ability to integrate the necessary knowledge, skills, and attitudes. Training, mentoring, and supervision help develop core competencies needed to perform a role or job.

Core Competencies, Principles, and Values

Core competencies for Peer Recovery Specialists reflect foundational principles. These include:

- Recovery-Orientated: Peer Recovery Specialists provide hope to those they serve, partnering with them to envision and achieve a meaningful and purposeful life. Peer Recovery Specialists help those they serve to identify and build on strengths and empower them to choose for themselves, recognizing that there are multiple pathways to recovery.
- Person-Centered: Peer recovery services are always directed by the person participating in services. Peer recovery is personalized to align with the specific hopes, goals, and preferences of the individual served and responds to specific needs the individual has identified to the Peer Recovery Specialist.
- Voluntary: Peer Recovery Specialists are partners or consultants to those they serve. They do not dictate the types of services provided or the elements of recovery plans that will guide their work with peers. Participation in peer recovery services is always contingent on peer choice.
- Relationship-Focused: The relationship between the Peer Recovery Specialist and the peer is the foundation on which peer services and support are provided. The relationship between the Peer Recovery Specialist and a peer is respectful, trusting, empathetic, collaborative, and mutual.
- Trauma-Informed: Peer recovery utilizes a strengths-based framework emphasizing physical, psychological, and emotional safety and creates opportunities for survivors to rebuild a sense of control and empowerment.

What is a Justice-Involved Peer Recovery Specialist?

Many types of peer specialists work throughout the judicial system nationwide. For some, it is the same court system where they became justice-involved.

Justice-Involved Peer Recovery Specialists connect trained individuals with histories of substance use or mental health disorders and criminal justice involvement to those with similar experiences. This type of support requires specialized training on the needs of justice-involved individuals with substance use or mental health disorders, including understanding of trauma caused by arrest and incarceration.

Justice-Involved Peer Recovery Specialists assist individuals through a variety of services. Given the history of stigma and discrimination associated with substance use or mental health disorders and incarceration, an essential function of a Justice-Involved Peer Recovery Specialist is to instill hope and serve as a valuable model of the possibility of recovery. Additional roles include helping engage in treatment and support services, anticipating and addressing challenges of reentry, and assisting with maintaining adherence to conditions of court-imposed supervision.

Justice-Involved Peer Recovery Specialist Program

Program Description

Specialty courts strive to decrease untreated substance use or mental health disorders and criminal activity, improve public safety, strengthen recovery communities, restore dignity to individuals and families, and save lives. Participants in specialty courts are assessed as having high criminogenic risk factors and severe substance use or mental health disorders. Therefore, participants require intensive supervision, treatment, and support services.

The Specialty Court Justice-Involved Peer Recovery Specialists Program aims to provide peer services to defendants involved in the criminal justice system, including those actively participating in specialty courts, and intercept those in need of specialty court services. Through this program, the Department of Human Services (DHS), Division of Aging, Adult, and Behavioral Health Services (DAABHS), Office of Substance Abuse and Mental Health (OSAMH) will fund the employment of Justice-Involved Peer Recovery Specialists in specialty courts. Collaboratively, DHS-DAABHS and the Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) will provide orientation, supervision, training, and technical assistance to Justice-Involved Peer Recovery Specialists and specialty court stakeholders to ensure successful support service integration.

Justice-Involved Peer Recovery Specialists working within specialty courts will assist the judiciary and community through advocacy, resource linkage, sharing experiences, community and relationship building, group facilitation, skill building, mentoring, goal setting, and additional support services as necessary on individual bases.

Program Benefits

According to the National Center for State Courts, specialty courts engaged with Justice-Involved Peer Recovery Specialists experience show increased engagement, recovery from substance use or mental health disorders, employment, and participant satisfaction and shows decreases in recidivism rates, substance use, and arrests and incarcerations.

Program Funding

In 2021, DHS was awarded funding through the American Rescue Plan Act under the Mental Health Block Grant to support initiatives addressing substance use and mental health disorders. Through this award, DHS has funding available to award up to $50,000 to qualifying specialty courts to employ Justice-Involved Peer Recovery Specialists.

- Award recipients are limited to new and existing specialty court programs described in the Judicial Circuit's or Judicial District's administrative plan and authorized by the Arkansas Supreme Court. These programs may include Adult Drug Courts, DWI Courts, Family Treatment Courts, HOPE & Swift Courts, Juvenile Drug Courts, Mental Health Courts, and Veterans Treatment Courts.
- Award recipients are limited to new and existing specialty courts adhering to best-practice standards and in good standing.
- Award recipients must comply with established training and reporting requirements, including strategic planning initiatives to develop local sustainability.

DHS will continue to accept applications and award funding on a rolling basis so long as funding is available during the funding period.

Program Timeline

Award Determination: Beginning in August 2023

Funding Provided: Beginning after execution of the sub-grant agreement

Funding Conclusion: September 2025

Upon award, DHS, DAABHS will distribute $50,000 to each receiving city or county. Funds are authorized for up to twelve (12) months to pay salary and fringe for employed Justice-Involved Peer Recovery Specialists. Justice-Involved Peer Recovery Specialist's compensation is based on a GS06 position for the State of Arkansas pay scale. The starting salary for this position is $36,155, providing $17.38 hourly. Fringe for this position is configured at 27.69%, totaling $13,845.

So long as funds are available, a city or county may apply for more than one peer. However, funding awards may only apply to each Justice-Involved Peer Recovery Specialist for the twelve (12) month period that corresponds with each application. Such requests will be reviewed case-by-case, including consideration of available funding and caseload size. The availability and awarding of funds will be solely determined DHS DAABHS.

Award recipients must agree that all funds shall be expended within 12-months of hiring a Justice-Involved Peer Recovery Specialist. All unused funds shall be returned to the state, otherwise the state or federal partner will seek recovery and repayment of funds.

Adherence to State Regulations

Award recipients must comply with applicable provisions of the Justice-Involved Peer Recovery Specialist Program and Department of Finance and Administration Rules and Regulations, including but not limited to maintaining appropriate programmatic and financial records, disclosing the amount and disposition of funds received, supporting financial documentation for all disbursements, contracts for services, applicable 1099-MISC forms, and any other record which facilitate an effective audit. DHS-DAABHS reserves the right to seek reimbursement for any funding used for unallowed expenditures. (Addendum Item 1.)
